

B4-2200

HEYDE HOUSE - c. 1895 - 18912 Calder Avenue, Parkton. This frame, vernacular style, two story, gable roofed house, was apparently built by Mrs. Miranda Harris in or slightly before 1895 and transferred to her daughters Sara Calder Fishel and Luella J. Ruttledge. Mrs. Fishel became sole owner (along with her husband) and sold in 1899 to Mrs. Mary Ellen Heyde, wife of Dr. Eugene W. Heyde. Dr. Heyde, for whom Hyde Road is apparently names (and misspelled) was company physician of the Northern Central Railroad. This house was in a state of decay and vacant in 1980 when surveyed but was undergoing restoration in 1983.

A topographic map of the Parkton area. The map features contour lines indicating elevation, with labels for '500' and '600' feet. Major roads shown include 'FREDERICK ROAD' and 'YORK ROAD'. The 'PENN CENTRAL' railway tracks are also depicted. A callout box labeled 'BA-2200' points to a specific location on the map, which is marked with a small circle and a crosshair. The area is labeled 'Parkton' in the upper right.
